Airport Road Clinic

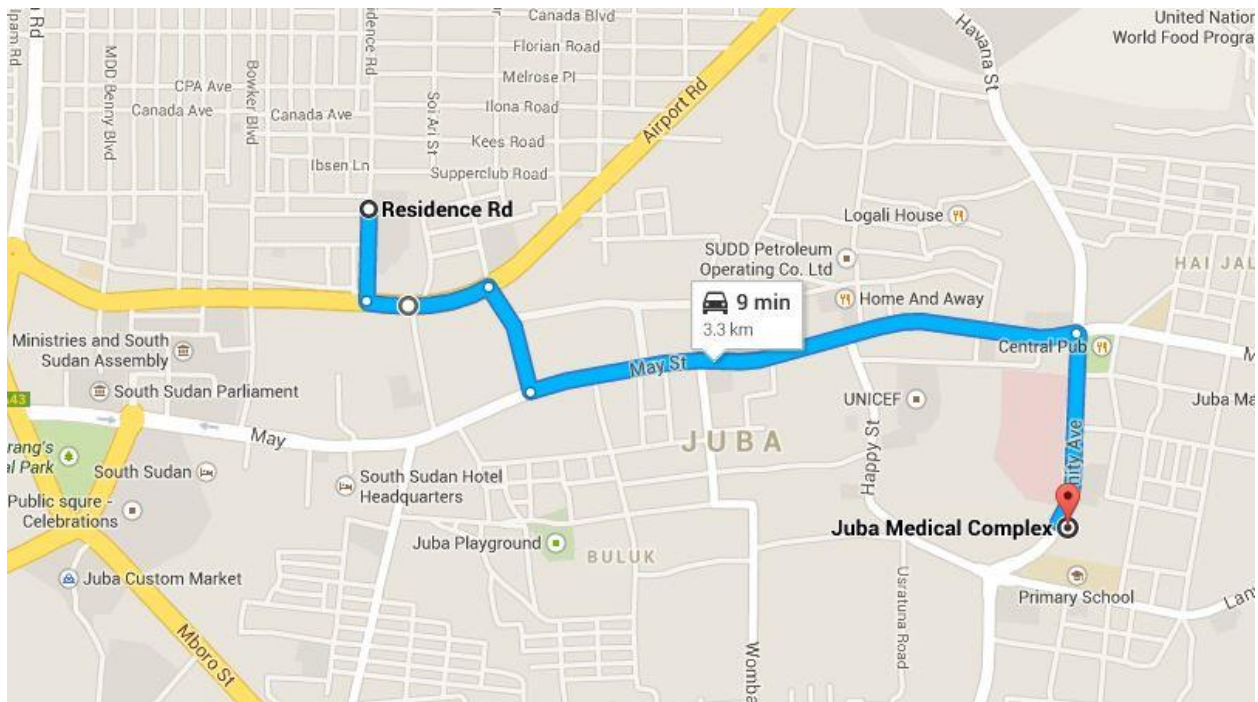

Airport Road Clinic is an outpatient clinic with pharmacy and lab located on Airport Road a couple of blocks west of the U.S. Embassy (just east of the Bilpam Road roundabout). There are three physicians on staff, two of whom are brothers who are of South Sudanese heritage, but were born, raised, went to medical school and worked for several years in the UK, while the third is their father who was trained in Khartoum but has practiced in the UK for many years. One of the sons is trained as an emergency physician, while the other was trained as a radiologist, but works as a general practitioner.

The clinic imports all of the drugs in their pharmacy directly from the UK.

Airport Road Clinic has a basic lab, but can send more complex tests to Nairobi. The only imaging they currently offer is ultrasound, but they expect to expand to a larger facility with more services in the future. Currently they are an outpatient only facility operating 9 to 5, but they do take afterhours calls for established patients.
